Resisting Injustice Peacefully: Jewish and Muslim Perspectives

Sunday, January 17th
7:00 - 9:00 pm EST

"Few are guilty, but all are responsible." So said Abraham Joshua Heschel, reminding us of one of the key teachings of our Abrahamic Prophets. We are indeed all responsible for confronting and resisting injustice. But how do we do this wisely, effectively, and morally? Rumi Forum and JIDS will bring in two diverse experts to provide insights on this question. Prof. Sophia Pandya is an academic who has written extensively on the topic of resistance efforts in the Muslim world. Rabbi Michael Pollack is a community activist who fights injustice in the trenches in Harrisburg, PA. Be prepared to be enlightened and inspired by what they have to say, and by the discussion that follows.
